$20,000 Face Value Appreciates 500-Fold

October 16, 2003 – What may be the largest trove of unused American paper money to survive from the 1800's was sold through Goldline International of Santa Monica, California (www.Goldline.com). The entire collection of $5, $10, and $20 notes was sold privately to investors and collectors.

"The existence of the collection was kept secret until now," said Mark Albarian, President and CEO of Goldline. "We offered the notes to a select group of our clients and they sold out very quickly. Many serious

$500's and $1,000 Federal Reserve Notes

By Joseph M. Bissell

The lure of High Denom's (denominations) have always tempted not only collectors but investors. Consider the time era and economy that these notes were issued (1928 & 1934), and you'll understand why the survival rate is well below average. To hang onto a note of such wealth and value at a time when the Country was bleak at best was no easy task.

I remember stories that my wife's grandparents would tell me about the depression, and literally having to live in caves for shelter. My mother sitting me down telling me about people coming to their door and begging for food for their children – heart wrenching!

$500's and $1,000 will always play a very special role in America's Heritage (as well as $5,000 & $10,000's which will be covered in an upcoming article).

The symbol of wealth and power was most certainly expressed by "hard cash" and these notes captured the very essence of that symbolism. Now, onto types and collectors are going to be disappointed that they did not have an opportunity to acquire these notes for their collections.”

Historical collections of paper money are truly a rarity. Very few paper notes from the 1800's have survived. Most of the currency was spent and ultimately destroyed as new notes were issued.

This particular collection of paper money has unique historical distinction due to its extremely high quality. Prior to its discovery, many of these notes were virtually unknown to have survived in uncirculated condition. Albarian added, “Most experts in the paper money field will be shocked that a collection of this quality survived in such incredible condition.”

The grouping, named the Atlantic Collection was held as vault cash reserves in a bank located near the Eastern seaboard. Prices paid for the notes varied considerably: between $2,075 and $50,000 based on rarity and condition.

High grade United States paper money from the Nineteenth Century is usually even more valuable than gold coins from the same era. Given the choice of saving a $20 bill or a $20 gold coin, most people saved the gold. Paper money is also more vulnerable to damage, further contributing to its rarity.

The collection of large-size notes includes the “Woodchopper” and “Jackass” designs, both of which first appeared in the Series of 1869. These designs depict scenes of early American life and are widely considered some of the finest examples of the engravers' art.

condition. Both $500's and $1,000 came in several issues: 1928, 1934 and 1934A. The 1928's & 1934's came in a much brighter and whiter paper than the 1934A's (which had more of a gray tone to them). Making the '28's and '34's more desirable and obviously much more valuable. Each issue comes in all 12 districts; obviously increased value comes with scarcer districts (see the note above – 1928 St. Louis) about tied for the 2nd lowest minted note for the 1928's.

Many “High Denom's” fell victim to tellers handling marks, commonly found on the right side as they counted the packs down. An original note will commonly have handling on the right side along with a nice light paper wave. The seals also can vary in tones of green ink.

Processed $500's and $1,000 are very common, perhaps more than any other area we've seen. Obviously this is because of the temptation for profit. These doctored notes are often found very flat or pressed, this is generally done in attempts to enhance the condition of the note (to raise the bar from say an Au CGC-58 to a Gem), therefore increasing the price from say $2k to $10k. The last $1,000 in CGC-65 Gem sold on an Internet sale around this last summer for about $10k. To date CGC has only graded two $1,000's in Gem 65 (nothing higher).

For the collector, dealer & investor the 1928's and better district notes hold the key to profits; a true World Classic that never seems to go down in value and has continued to escalate year after year for about 75 years – with no end in site! Coming up we'll discuss $5,000 and $10,000. www.GradedCurrency.com currently has the above 1928 $500 consigned & also a 1934A in CGC-66 “G”

“PRICING, GRADING & POPULATION SUMMARY”

This is a “Retail Publication,” and is designed to reflect current market prices. These prices are procured from many sources, including: Dealers, Internet auctions, previous auction houses “prices realized,” striving to reflect current market prices. If the Note Type contains a range of Fr.#'s, then the listed price reflects the most common Fr.#. This publication is in NO way instructing or suggesting for its readers to purchase at these levels. Grading ranges from Very Good (MS 8) to Premium Gem (MS 68). The listed prices were gathered from both professionally graded and independently graded “sold” notes. We did denote the observation that prof. graded notes generally sold for higher prices than independently graded notes. A Population Summary column is listed for ea. Note Type, many times with a range of Fr.#'s. Example: Fr.#100-102 (1880 $10 Legal Tender) shows 24-6-38 in the Population column-meaning there are 24 notes in CU & up for Fr.#100, 6 notes (in CU & up) for Fr.#101 & 38 notes (in CU & up) for Fr.#102. If you see +++ there are likely more out there than reported.

Let's Talk

"CGC's Registry Sets!"

Now you (as the collector) know where you stand with your notes and what it will take (concretely) to prevail in procuring a Finest Known; and how many notes may be out there since we also list (and track) the population of notes (even small US, fractional and MPC's), again, CGC is only company to provide such a service.

CGC began providing "Finest Known" designation on Grade Tabs approx. a year ago and collectors really enjoy it! The dates of the finest knowns are provided on the reverse of the Grade Tab. This is around the same time CGC also started providing Pedigrees. Now, you may see "CGC Registry Set" designated on the grade tab! Below we'll provide some breathtaking pieces that are now in the Hall of Fame of CGC notes! Enjoy.....
